

Legal 500 Asia Pacific 2020 results

January 20, 2020

Kensington Swan (now Dentons Kensington Swan) has once again improved its rankings in the influential legal directory, The Legal 500 (Asia Pacific). These results are further evidence of the strong development of the firm, ahead of its combination with Dentons, the world's largest law firm, in early February.

The firm has achieved tier 1 rankings in Investment Funds, Projects and Resource Management (including environment), Real Estate and Construction and Transport (rail, road, air and sea). This demonstrates Kensington Swan's (now Dentons Kensington Swan) position, not only as a top commercial law firm, but also one that is recognised by its clients as leaders in these key sectors for New Zealand's on-going growth and success.

Our specialist departments and expert lawyers have also climbed the rankings in 11 practice areas, with 28 lawyers recommended in the listings, 13 lawyers being named 'Leading Lawyers', two of our lawyers recognised as 'Rising Stars' and three of our newest partners recognised as 'Next Generation Partners' for their delivery of outstanding legal services to their clients.

Kensington Swan (now Dentons Kensington Swan), Chief Executive Charles Spillane said, "We are delighted to be recognised across the full range of our practice areas this year. Our teams work hard to deliver to the needs of our clients and this is proof of their success. The firm continues to go from strength to strength ahead of our exciting combination with Dentons, which will help us to better service our clients both in New Zealand and across the globe."
